

Chris Noble, Diversity, Equity & Inclusion Lead PGA of America

Chris Noble joins the DEI team after a very successful stint as the PGA's National High School Golf Association Lead, where he took the business line from non-revenue generating in 2018, to more than $800,000 in total revenue in 2022. Throughout his career, Chris has worked tirelessly to develop partnerships and build programs through his passion for making the game more welcoming for all. Chris will play a central role in ensuring that the PGA of America is continuing to build, support and foster a culture of learning relative to DEI across the Association with a primary focus on the PGA of America Membership and PGA Section offices. He will serve as a DEI expert assisting stakeholders across the Association to ensure alignment with, and advancement of, the Association's DEI learning and development priorities and goals.

Get to know Chris...

Played competitive golf since he was seven years old and has FOUR (!) hole-in-ones.

Four-time Michigan All-State team in high school and played at Holy Cross College at Notre Dame. He also loves all things Notre Dame football.

Beat Xander Schauffele twice in an AJGA event back in high school.

Is a craft beer enthusiast and knows every Frank Sinatra song.

Is an active member of the Stonewall Sports League in Chicago, one of the largest organized LGBTQ+ sports groups in the country.

Caddied at the KitchenAid Senior PGA Championship at Harbor Shores three times, with his player, Chris Williams having his highest professional major finish in 2018 with a T-6th